Access to Additional Information

Access to Additional Information

The following requestors have access to additional information under the following circumstances:

- Family members - Patient Enquiries staff must first determine family member status, and may then provide general information as per the condition list. The requestor should be referred to the ward/unit if this is noted on the condition list, or if the family member requests additional information.
- Children - Patient Enquiries staff must determine who is calling and the age of the child. If the child is under 16 years of age, the caller should be put through to the ward/unit, especially if the patient is the child's parent or guardian.
- Health professionals associated with the patient - Patient Enquiries staff must determine the relationship of the caller to the patient. If medical personnel (e.g. referrer/specialist/GP), community-based nurse or allied health professional associated with the patient, then general information as per the condition list may be provided. The caller may be referred to the ward/unit if they request this. Ward staff must confirm the identity of the caller before providing any additional information.
- Media - Patient Enquiries staff must determine the status of the caller and may provide general information as per the condition list. If no condition list, Patient Enquiries staff should state that the patient's condition is unavailable at this time. The caller should not be referred to the Ward/Unit or Duty Manager, unless this is specifically noted on the condition list.
- Media requests for information related to celebrity /other cases of public interest – Patient Enquiries staff should refer callers to the Communications Department.

Code 19 Patients

Patient Enquiries staff must state "I have no record of a patient by that name".
